A severe electric storm on Saturday killed dozens of horses and cattle in the western part of the province. Buildings and fences were blown down, machinery smashed and crops damaged.

A fire at St. John's, Newfoundland, Friday night, destroyed the business portions of the city, half the entire city and three-fourths of value. Twelve thousand people are homeless. Help must reach the city soon or many will perish from starvation. Two steamers were burned. Six persons perished.

Saturday's elections were slightly favorable to the British liberals, but far from their expectations. Four hundred members are now elected, of which conservatives have 189, unionists 26, liberals 158, anti-Parnellites 23, Parnellites 4. Seventy-two contests take place on Tuesday. These will decide which wins.

AN important auction sale of Clyde stallions and ranch horses will take place on Wednesday, July 13th, at M. McCauley's stable.

A YOUNG Indian, who was employed on the Athabasca steamer, was brought in from the landing with one hand badly smashed. It had been caught in the "nigger."

REPORTS from Calgary are to the effect that there are thirteen cases of small-pox in that town and two deaths have occurred. Every precaution is being taken by the town authorities.

A. E. JOHNSTON, late forest ranger in connection with the Dominion lands office, has gone into business as land guide, for which his many years experience as forest ranger and homestead inspector has fully qualified him.

THE deeds of lots 49 and 50, block five, of the H. B. property, offered by the H. B. Company as a site for the proposed government offices, have been accepted by the government and are now registered in the registry office at Edmonton.

The Prince Albert Times and Saskatchewan have been amalgamated under the name of the Saskatchewan Times, and will be published by J. D. Emaveety, of the Prince Albert Times. It will give the present administration an independent support.

R. SECORD and H. S. Young left for the Landing on Thursday.

F. PAGERIE, of Fort Saskatchewan settlement, north side, is still very ill.

GEO. WOOLLEY, ex-policeman, has re-joined "G" Division as blacksmith.

REV. MR. ELMITT, assistant to Rev. Mr. Procnier, arrived on Friday, having driven from Calgary.

CORPORAL H. Belcher, of "G" Division, Fort Saskatchewan, whose leg was broken some weeks ago, is recovering.

REV. MR. SOMERSET, Methodist missionary at Bears' Hill, was in town on Saturday and Sunday, accompanied by Mrs. Somerset.

F. LAMOUREUX has repaired and launched the steamer "Minnow," which has been laid up for the past three years, and starts to-morrow for Battleford to bring up some saw mill machinery which he purchased there some time ago.

JAS. PHALEN, Forest river, Walsh Co., North Dakota, Paul Cote, Quebec, and Etienne Genier, Sturgeon Falls, Ont., visited Stony Plain and Riviere Qui Barre on Tuesday and Wednesday, accompanied by land guide A. E. Johnston. They had already visited the Prince Albert and Souris sections of the Northwest, and declared the Edmonton district 25 per cent. ahead of anything they had yet seen.

MESSRS. N. E. Letrace, E. Lyons, W. MacDonald and J. Lemieux have located the northwest quarter of section 30, township 50, range 35, west of the 4th meridian, as a petroleum claim. This is the land upon which the find of tar reported a short time ago in the BULLETIN was made. The parties mentioned went out on Thursday and satisfied themselves of the genuineness of the discovery by digging about seven feet deep on a tar seam, which seems to have been forced from below through a crack in the earth. The quarter section mentioned is J. Lemieux's pre-emption.

Calgary Herald: The citizens of Edmonton will feel somewhat relieved by the advertisement of the Dominion department of public works in to-day's Herald, calling for tenders for the erection of "Land and Registration offices" in Edmonton. Calgary contractors will find a copy of the specifications in the hands of the caretaker of the Calgary court house. It would appear from this that the work of construction is to go on this year. The plans show a building, fronting on Victoria Avenue, about 65 feet in length, with basement, ground floor and attic. The basement is the full size of the building. The ground floor is divided between the land agency, registration office and crown timber agency. The attic is laid off in residential apartments. It is to be part stone, part wood, and should not cost a great deal.

BATTLEFORD SPEAKS.

The Battleford Herald speaks right out on the land office trouble at Edmonton. In the course of an able and forcible article it says: "It is always unpleasant to see people setting themselves up in opposition to the law, but in this case they were only defending rights conferred on them by the government through one of their number, the late Hon. Thomas White, and more recently confirmed by the premier and the present minister of the interior. When Mr. White was making a tour of the Territories, some years ago, with a view to becoming acquainted with the requirements of the settlers, this question of killing existing towns by establishing rival ones a few miles distant, unless they would surrender half their property to the land sharks, was brought up; and he then declared that this would not be allowed. It was through the enterprise and efforts of the pioneers that the country had been developed and the necessity for railway communication shown, and no railway or other corporation would be allowed to injuring old towns for the purpose of establishing new ones; and that where charters are applied for to pass "at or near" a town the words "or near" shall be stricken out. Bona fide companies should be able to state in their applications for charters the exact points they intend to touch at, and particularly so in respect of their terminals."

In another place Herald says: "The action of the people of Edmonton will affect many other places in the near future, and should also be a lesson to the legislature—and especially to the members representing the Territories—when applications for charters come before them. Let the line of route be clearly defined and closely watched as to its effects on vested rights, and then strictly adhered to. The pioneers must not be robbed to enrich the speculators, most of whom never set foot in the country."

EDMONTON BULLETIN, JULY, 11, 1892

THE LAND OFFICE.

Now that the plans for the new land, timber and registry offices have been received, tenders for their erection called for and the deeds of the lots on Victoria avenue registered in the name of the government, we are bound to believe—and will believe if the buildings are proceeded with—that the government, as a whole, was not a party to the attempted land office steal. Although this paper does not profess any great admiration for the present government it is glad to be able to say that the government, as a government, is free of the charge of tampering with the public interest and convenience by attempting to move the public offices about to boom a speculative town site. It is well for the good name of our country that this can be said, and it will go a great way to establish faith in the fair dealing of the government with the settler—something that has been sadly lacking for many years, and the lack of which has been the greatest drawback to the settlement and progress of the country. The following extract from the Winnipeg Tribune's report of the parliamentary proceedings of July 2nd, gives the latest position of the government on the matter:

"On the item for the Edmonton registry office, Mr. Laurier drew attention again to the trouble respecting the land office there. Despite Mr. Dewdney's statement that the office would not be moved, Mr. Anderson, the agent, issued a public notice that the office was removed to the south shore of the Saskatchewan. There has been some misunderstanding somewhere.

"Mr. Dewdney replied that Anderson had no authority to issue the notice, which he had been instructed to withdraw. Anderson acted contrary to instructions and must have misapprehended the messages of the department. The minister was much surprised at the notice in view of the repeated promises that the office would not be closed or removed."

While accepting the assertion of the minister that agent Anderson "acted contrary to instructions," that he "misapprehended the messages of the department" and that the government had made repeated promises that the "office would not be closed or removed," it is only proper to call his attention to the facts of the case, in order that he may know exactly what action was taken by his subordinates, which led to riot and nearly to bloodshed; in order that he may fitly punish them for acting "contrary to instructions," and take such measures as shall prevent their "misapprehending the messages of the department," in future. It is a scandalous thing that men who draw large salaries should act "contrary to instructions" at the most critical times, especially when such action is so greatly to their own private interest and so very detrimental to that of the public.

1st. Agent Anderson received written instructions from Inspector of land agencies, J. McD. Gordon, to remove the land office to the South Side. These instructions did not say that the removal was to be partial or temporary.

2nd. The agent advertised in this paper that the "Timber and Land office has been removed over to South Edmonton" and posted a similar notice at the land office.

3rd. Every article belonging to the office, including furniture, had been loaded on the wagons when they were stopped.

4th. The agent brought teams from the South Side, on Saturday evening, to forcibly remove the loads that were on the wagons, and was only prevented from making a total removal by superior force.

5th. The books and papers remained on the wagons from Saturday night until Tuesday at noon, through several showers of rain, the agent refusing to allow the police, who were in charge of the wagons, to place the books inside the office to protect them from the wet.

6th. The office remained completely closed during Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

7th. Since the office has been opened the public have been put to serious inconvenience in transacting land business on the north side owing to a number of the books which should be in the town office being kept on the South Side, and having to be carried over; while it has been quite as difficult to transact business on the South Side. There is no indication as to how soon this inconvenience is to be put an end to.

If an official in any other department than, that of the interior, were to attempt to lead up his office and cart it off between two days, contrary to instructions and the public interest, there would certainly be a vacancy in that office forthwith. As long as the agent at Edmonton is continued in his office after committing these acts "contrary to instructions," we are bound to believe that he did not "misapprehend the messages of the department," and that when the minister of the interior says he did—we are entitled to draw our own conclusions. That his colleagues in the cabinet have not seen fit to bear out the minister of interior in his little land speculation, no doubt causes him some chagrin, but they can do without him a good deal better than he can without them, so he vents his spite by sending the following gratuitously insulting letter to Mayor McCauley: nation, I think it right to call your attention to the very grave responsibility which you, as an official head of the town council, assumed in the action which you took in forcibly preventing the officers of this department from carrying out their instructions to furnish temporary facilities at the end of the track for people taking up homesteads along the line of the Calgary & Edmonton railway, south of the river, and thus saving them from the unnecessary trouble and expense involved in making their entries at the land office in Edmonton. Apart from any other consequence of your action, it is scarcely necessary to point out to you how injuriously immigration into the Edmonton district, and settlement upon the vacant lands therein, are likely to be affected by the spectacle of the duly constituted authority of the town preventing by force, and in defiance of all the well-known rules of law and order, the execution of a direction issued to an officer of his department by a minister of the crown. If persons of your standing in the community instead of using all your power and influence for the preservation of the peace openly organize for the purpose of carrying out by force an illegal and improper object, it is quite easy to understand that strangers will scarcely care to take the risk, which would appear to be involved in settling in your community. I sincerely regret that I should find it my duty to write you in this way, but the idea which I entertain of my own responsibility appears to me to render it necessary to do so.

I am, Dear Sir,
Your obedient servant,
E. DEWDNEY,
Minister of Interior.

Will the gentle reader kindly compare the assurance of the minister of interior in the house that agent Anderson "acted contrary to instructions" with his censure on Mayor McCauley for having prevented by force and in defiance of all the well-known rules of law and order "the execution of a direction issued to an officer of his department by a minister of the crown." Quite a high sounding phrase, truly—considering where it comes from. The hon. minister forgets that officers of a department and ministers of the crown are only sacred from criticism or opposition by common people such as mayors and councilmen, when acting within the duties of their office or on behalf of the crown. That when they engage in town site speculations like other common people they must take their chances like such people. The hon. minister's solicitude about the interests of immigration is really touching—considered in the light of the fact that since getting control of immigration he has discharged all immigration agents. However, he may ease his mind on that score. Immigration has not slacked off any as a result of the disposition shown by the people of Edmonton to stand up for their rights; nor is it likely to until he gets his full swing, and is permitted to peddle government offices and town sites as far better men peddle pea-nuts. The fact of the matter is that this Northwest has had too much Dewdneyism during the past ten years. It is to be hoped that our trouble has put in the peg, and that hereafter the interests of the actual settlers, the pioneers, will receive first, instead of last, consideration at the hands of the government. Then, and not until then, need we expect that flow of immigration to which our natural advantages entitle us.

TENDERS FOR LAND OFFICE.

The following is the advertisement calling for tenders for the erection of public buildings at Edmonton which appears in the Calgary Herald:

"SEALED TENDERS, addressed to the undersigned, and endorsed 'Tender for Land and Registration Offices, Edmonton, N. W. T.," will be received at this office until Wednesday, 27th July, 1892, for the several works required in the erection of land and registration offices, Edmonton, N. W. T.

"Specifications can be seen at the department of public works, Ottawa, at the office of land agent, at Edmonton, and the office of caretaker, court house, Calgary, on and after Saturday, 2nd July, and tenders will not be considered unless made on form supplied, and signed with the actual signatures of the tenderers.

"An accepted bank cheque, payable to the order of the minister of public works, equal to 5 per cent. of amount of tender, must accompany each tender. The cheque will be forfeited if the party decline the contract or fail to complete the work contracted for, and will be returned in case of non-acceptance of tender.

"The department does not bind itself to accept the lowest or any tender.

DROWNED.

Word was received on Friday, from Moore & Macdowall's mills, of the death by drowning of Dennis Coghlan, youngest brother of A. Coghlan, of Edmonton. Deceased was assisting P. Reilly and Wm. Alexander to raft logs from Moore & Macdowall's limit, at the old government mill, about 60 miles up the river, to the saw mill about 20 miles nearer Edmonton. He was using a pike pole in getting the loose logs together and, overbalancing, fell into the water. The further particulars are unknown at the time of writing; but as the river is very high it is correspondingly dangerous and difficult to escape from. Deceased was about 16 years of age, and came from Aylmer, Quebec, last spring, in company with his brothers. A. Coghlan left on Friday for the scene of the accident.

FOR SALE.

IMPORTED PEDIGREE CLYDEDALE STALLIONS AND HEAVY EASTERN BROOD MARES.

The Canadian Agricultural Company have for sale the following Clydesdale Stallions:

The above horses are rising six, are all successful stock getters, and are for sale only on account of the company being able to spare them through further concentration in their breeding arrangements.

In addition to the above stallions the Company can spare a number of heavy Eastern brood mares, all warranted good workers and all served by Pedigree Clyde Stallions. These are for sale to make room for young stock coming on to take their place.
